

Everything between the model and the servers

A server sees one request. The model sees one catalogue. Only the host sees both, which is why consent, audit, and the context budget can live nowhere else.